

Rapid Response Solutions to Reduce Your Risk

The importance of keeping your workforce safe

EDSB Compliance Solutions are excited to announce a partnership with AURA as part of our overall technology offering. For many years we have offered out of hours rapid response across the country and value the importance of this service, should it ever be required.

However in current climates, we feel this service is a fundamental part of your site security and is a cost-effective method of handling an out of hours situation without relying on a police response or endangering one of your own employees to tackle the unknown. Utilising state of the art software and a national network of responders, AURA boast excellent response times combined with a thorough Service Level Agreement to suit your site operations. Which is why EDSB are offering this service at a very competitive rate.

Not only is it simple to set up, you can also have visibility on performance when it is called upon, giving you total peace of mind.

Who are AURA?

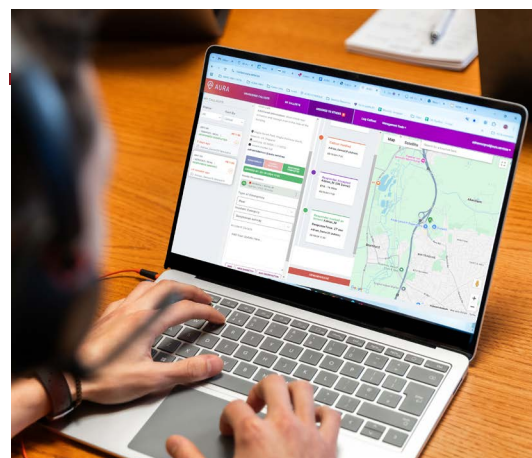

AURA is a technology platform that connects customers with the closest vetted private security response available to their locations, anywhere, anytime.

The service is designed to offer a fast, reliable and cost-effective alternative by leveraging technology to improve response times, increase efficiency and provide transparency. As police resources continue to be stretched, AURA helps fill the gap with a practical, scalable solution.

Together, EDSB and AURA are redefining what effective security looks like in a compliance-driven world. Our collaboration ensures that organisations not only stay protected but also meet regulatory obligations with ease, supported by cutting-edge technology and trusted on-the-ground response. It's a partnership built on innovation, reliability and transparency - making compliance seamless.

AURA's Testimonial

"EDSB's expertise in designing and managing complex security systems, combined with their strong focus on risk management, pairs seamlessly with AURA's technology and nationwide response network. Together, we provide customers with a complete solution that not only strengthens their security posture but also ensures rapid, on-the-ground response at a time when police resources are increasingly stretched. Live tracking and enhanced reporting will bring transparency, auditability and higher quality on the ground activities from vetted security officers."

-Adrian Meredith, AURA's Commercial Director

If you would like to try this service, simply email hello@edsb.co.uk and we can get you started.