

EDSB can now offer Honeywell Gent & Notifier

EDSB is proud to announce a significant milestone in its long-standing partnership with Honeywell, having recently been awarded approval to represent and support the Notifier brand.

For over a decade, EDSB has successfully delivered the installation and maintenance of Gent systems, building a strong reputation for quality, reliability and compliance within the Fire and Security sector. This latest development now sees EDSB also authorised to represent and support the Notifier brand - an opportunity awarded based on merit, proven expertise and the strength of the relationship cultivated over the past ten years.

A Significant Step Forward for EDSB

"I have personally worked with Honeywell for almost 20 years and I believe this is another step forward in our longstanding partnership. To be trusted to take both brands forward is an amazing achievement which EDSB look forward to offering."

-Jonathan Parker, EDSB CEO

This dual branding not only reinforces EDSB's position as a trusted partner within the industry but also enhances its offering to both new and existing clients. Customers already utilising Notifier systems can now benefit from EDSB's accredited maintenance and support services, while prospective clients gain access to a broader, fully supported portfolio of industry-leading Fire Detection solutions.

Throughout the partnership, EDSB and Honeywell have shared a pledge to the highest standards of Fire and Security compliance, reinforced by mutual respect and collaboration. This next step marks a natural progression in a relationship defined by trust, performance and shared values.

Successful Working Partnership

"I'm really excited to be able to offer Honeywell's new Notifier Inspire range alongside Honeywell Gent to EDSB."

I look forward to continuing our successful working relationship and supporting EDSB's growth in delivering reliable fire detection solutions through Honeywell."

-Tim Evans, Honeywell Business Manager

As EDSB continues to expand its capabilities, this dual brand recognition represents both a celebration of past success and a strong foundation for future growth.
